Active Voice and Passive Voice

Structure:

Active Voice:

My professor translates ancient texts.

Subject — Simple Present — Object

Passive Voice:

Ancient texts are translated BY my professor.

Subject — S. Pres. / Past Part. — Agent

Structure:

Active Voice:

Many people are watching Game of Thrones.

Subject — Pres. Cont. — Object

Passive Voice:

Game of Thrones is being watched BY many people.

Subject — Pres. Cont. / Past. Part. — Agent

Structure:

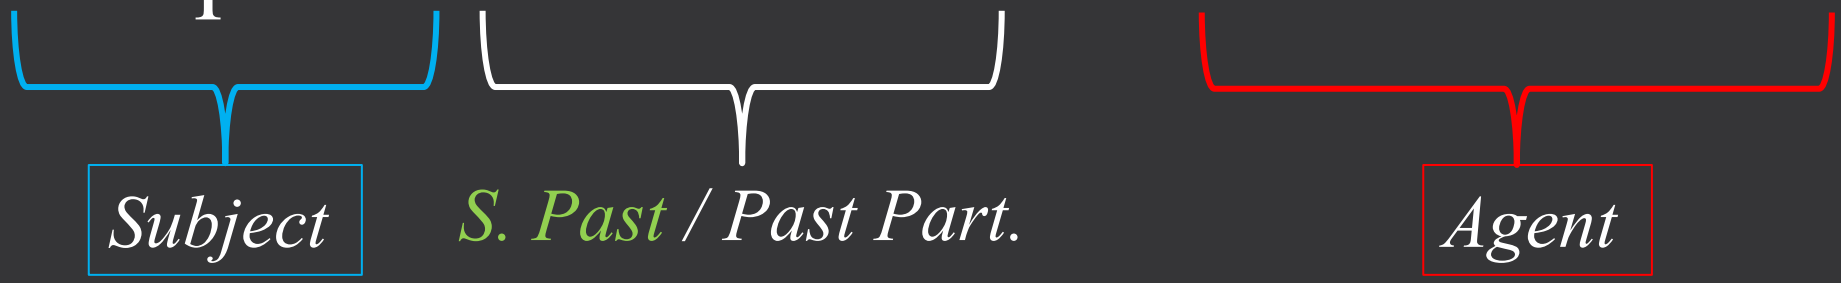

Active Voice:

The brave hero restored the peace.

Passive Voice:

The peace was restored BY the brave hero.

Structure:

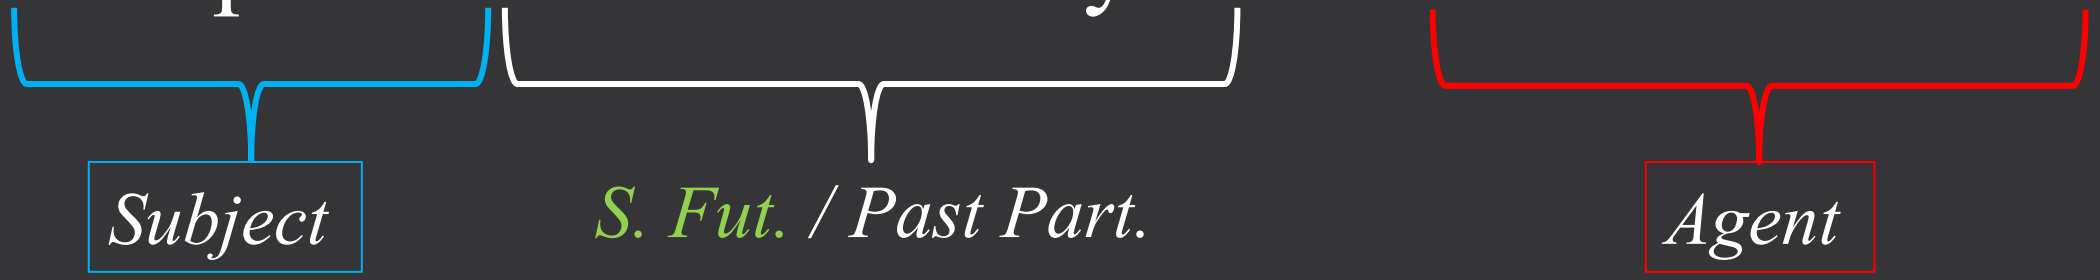

Active Voice:

The human race will destroy this planet.

Passive Voice:

This planet will be destroyed BY the human race.

Structure:

Active Voice:

Will we find a solution?

S. Fut. Subject S. Fut. Object

Passive Voice:

Will a solution be found (BY us)?

Subject Agent

S. Fut. / Past Part.

Structure:

Active Voice:

Does he exterminate monsters?

Aux. Verb | Subject | S. Pres. | Object

Passive Voice:

Are monsters exterminated BY him?

Subject | S. Pres. / Past Part. | Agent

Passive Voice for Modal Auxiliary Verbs:

Active Voice:

The soldiers must obey the captain's orders.

Subject | Modal + Infinitivo sem TO | Object

Passive Voice:

The captain's orders must be obeyed (BY the soldiers).

Subject | Modal + BE + Past Part. | Agent

Passive Voice for Modal Auxiliary Verbs:

Active Voice:

The artist should have used brighter colors.

Subject | Modal + HAVE + Past Part. | Object

Passive Voice:

Brighter colors should have been used BY the artist.

Subject | Modal + HAVE BEEN + Past Part. | Agent

OBS. 1: na maioria das orações em voz passiva o agente é omitido.

OBS. 2: quando o verbo da voz ativa for seguido de dois objetos, o primeiro objeto (indireto), normalmente uma pessoa, torna-se o sujeito da passiva. Mas o objeto direto também pode virar sujeito da passiva se necessário.

Active Voice: Last night, Harry brought me a glass of wine.

Subject — Indirect Object — Direct Object

Passive Voice: Last night, I was brought a glass of wine. (Harry)

Subject — Direct Object — Agent

OBS. 1: na maioria das orações em voz passiva o agente é omitido.

OBS. 2: quando o verbo da voz ativa for seguido de dois objetos, o primeiro objeto (indireto), normalmente uma pessoa, torna-se o sujeito da passiva. Mas o objeto direto também pode virar sujeito da passiva se necessário.

Active Voice: Bruce will sing a song for us.

Bruce — Subject

a song — Direct Object

for us — Indirect Object

Passive Voice: A song will be sung for us. (by Bruce)

A song — Subject

for us — Indirect Object

Bruce — Agent

OBS. 3: quando o sujeito da voz ativa for nobody / no one / nothing o agente da passiva será omitido e o verbo ficará na negativa.

Active Voice: Nothing can harm me.

Passive Voice: I can't be harmed.

OBS. 4: quando a voz ativa for uma oração negativa com any ou suas formas compostas como objeto direto ou indireto, o sujeito da passiva será negativo e o verbo não terá forma negativa.

Active Voice: I won't eat anything. / I don't love anyone.

Passive Voice: Nothing will be eaten. / No one is loved by me.

OBS. 5: quando uma preposição ou Adverb Particle fizer parte do verbo, ela deverá ser mantida, na voz passiva, e colocada depois do verbo que, por sua vez, estará no particípio passado.

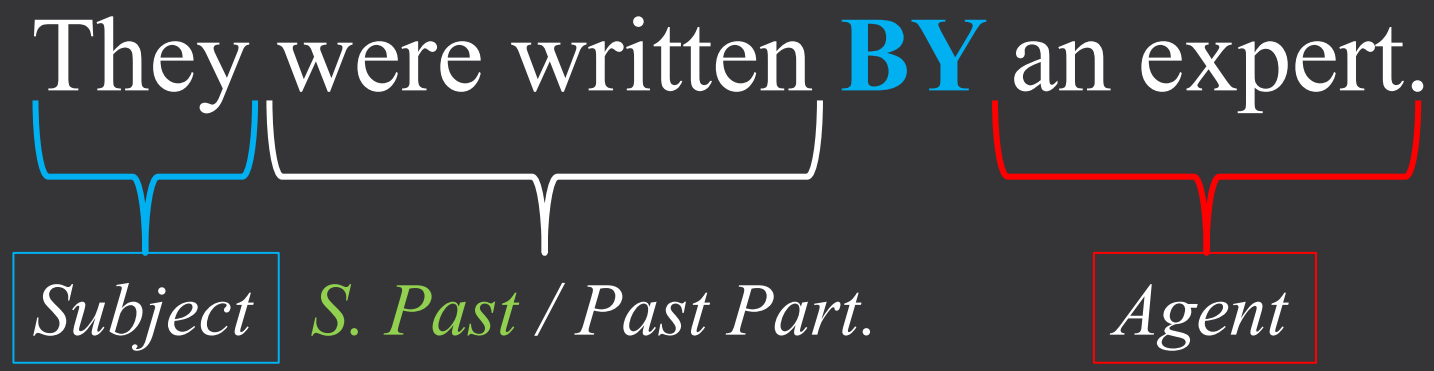

Active Voice 1: When we were young, we visited Italy.

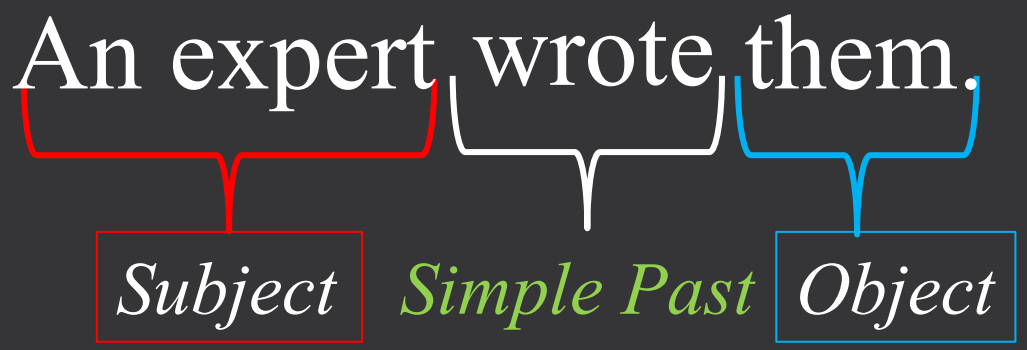

Passive Voice 1: When we were young, Italy was visited by us.

Active Voice 2: He will pass us by.

Passive Voice 2: We will be passed by.

Caminho Inverso: Passive Voice ➡ Active Voice.

Caminho Inverso: Passive Voice ➡ Active Voice.

He must have been kissed BY her.

Subject must + have been + Past P. Agent

She must have kissed him.

Subject must + have + Past P. Object